

Run your own Bake Sale Fundraiser!

Gather your friends and family

It could be as simple as inviting a few friends around for a cuppa and some cakes. Or you could host a bake sale for your workplace or your local community.

Sweet treats at the ready

Bake them or buy them, and why not invite others to bring some too. You could ask local bakeries if they're able to donate some. Boob cakes & nappy biscuits are optional! Price each slice, or ask for a suggested donation per person.

Send us your snaps and proceeds!

We'd love to see a photo of your bake sale in action. Set up a JustGiving page for donations, or simply donate your proceeds to us at babyumbrella.org.uk/donate.

Every donation helps. Just £35 enables us to provide free specialist breastfeeding and early parenting support to a new family.

Will your workplace match your fundraising?

Many organisations will match any funding their employees raise for registered charities. Let us know if you're thinking about running a bake sale at your workplace, we'll send you some posters to display.
